Shannon Bahrke was born and raised in Lake Tahoe, CA and moved to Salt Lake City, UT in 1998 to pursue her dreams of making the U.S. Ski Team and to ultimately compete for the USA at the Winter Olympic Games. She made the U.S. Ski Team that very same year and had continued success for the next twelve years. Shannon competed on 6 World Championship Teams, 3 Olympic Teams, brought home 2 Olympic Medals, 7 World Cup Wins, 1 Overall World Cup Title and 6 National Titles.

Shannon retired in 2010, and she and her husband, Matt, started up their first company, Silver Bean Coffee, in 2013; it was sold that same year. She now has her plate full again with a 6 year old little girl named Zoe and a 1 year old baby boy named Tucker. Working as a Ski Champion for Deer Valley, Shannon wrote a children’s book titled Mommy, Why Is Your Hair Pink? and launched a leadership development and team building company called Team Empower Hour! Just recently, she was named a 2019 Utah Business Forty Under 40 award winner. Don’t miss The Broadmoor 2020 Weekend of Wellness and the opportunity to experience our enterprising keynote speaker!
